

Last year, I went to Canada and took part in the wonderful English learning trip. I really enjoyed this memorable trip, and it was a valuable experience for my life.

First, the host families are very nice and attentive. They corrected my mistakes and taught me a lot of vocabulary. It improved our listening and speaking skills a lot, and I know how to express my feelings. That's why I have the confidence to chat with foreigners now.

Besides, I really appreciate their patience in teaching us everything. They spent their time looking after us and going out with us. Especially fun were the activities that my host family planned for us. We built up a friendly relationship during these three weeks. I am glad to meet them and we still keep in contact now. I gained precious friendships from this trip, which is invaluable.

Moreover, we had some activities each day. It helped us to get a good feeling about the culture in Canada. They don't like the high speed and busy life-style. They love relaxing. I quite enjoy this life-style, because I hate working everyday.

To conclude, I am delighted about having an opportunity to join this marvelous English trip. I must memorize all the things that I learnt in Canada and be a responsible student, organize the English activities, and encourage the other students to speak more English.
